An Electric Flatiron can be used wherever there is electric light, and is ready almost as soon as the current is turned on. It stays hot until the ironing is finished, saving many steps from stove to ironing board the handle does not get hot, thus eliminating the nuisance of an Iron Holder.

Decides Long Pending Customs Brokerage Case

The long pending case of C. S. Emery and company, customs house brokers against the Boston & Maine railroad has just been decided by the United States inter-state commerce commission, against the railroad. This case involved the alleged discrimination against Emery and company for refusing to extend forward the duties and custom charges for their own business so for their own broker, Mr. Burns. The gist of the decision is contained in the following quotation from the report of the commission. "We find that the practice complained of results in undue preference on shippers who make use of the services of the defendant's agent as customs broker an undue prejudice to shippers who employ other customs brokers."

The order made by the commission contains the following: "The commission having found in said report that the defendants practice of extending forward custom's duties and brokerage fees on shipments imported from Canada through Newport, Vt., when its agents at Newport asks as a customs broker and refusing to extend forward custom's duties and brokerage fees on shipments handled by other customs brokers results in undue preference to shippers who employ the railroad agent as their broker, and in undue prejudice to shippers who employ other customs brokers."
